SEPARATION.

Life in a dull and chill abeyance stands,
Beloved, when thou art gone.
Frozen beneath the winter's bands,
I watch the days creep on.

Today, among the willows, cold and curled,
A bird sang of the spring—
Come, for my heart waits, too, as all the world,
Breathless, its blossoming.
—Dorothea Lummis in Kate Field's Washington.

IN THE GREENROOM.

One evening at the Odeon, when they were playing the "Depit Amoureux" as a curtain raiser, and the beautiful Sophie Cherubin, who personated Marinette, was still on the stage, Fabrec—you know, perfectly well, Fabrec, the deputy with the golden beard who has so young an air despite his 40 years—half opened the door of the dressing room without knocking and called out, "Cuckoo!"

He was not a little disappointed to find the dressing room empty. Then Constance, the old dresser, came out from behind the screen:

"If monsieur will have the goodness to be seated, madame will return in five minutes."

Fabrec let himself drop into a tapestried armchair, crossed his legs, tapped his patent leather boots with the tip of his cane and lost himself in reflections, while the old woman arranged the little things on the dressing table.

After all, for what had he come here? Not from love. Hardly from desire. One day, when he had urged his claims, she had said to him, with a show of reason:

"Listen, Fabrec. You are very nice, but I have 40,000 francs of debts, and for you the beautiful days of Panama are finished. Come here to gossip when you will, but we will never be other than good comrades." Frankly she was right. Nevertheless an attraction drew him always in that direction, content to obtain here and there little privileges. He amused himself near this woman of a profession so beautiful and gay and laughed heartily at her sallies of wit and cynicism, and then again it was necessary to kill time. While meditating Fabrec regarded mechanically the dresser and was brusquely dragged from his reverie by the face of the little old woman that he saw reflected in the glass. What a ruin! What heart breaking ugliness! Dry as a stick, wrinkled as a winter apple, scanty hair the color of ashes and eyes like the dead. To think she had been a woman, perhaps pretty, doubtless loved!

She ought to be 65 years old, and Fabrec, who was kind hearted, pitied this lamentable old woman working until the end. He felt also a disgust to see this sorceress in her shabby black touching the laces, the silver brushes, the blond tortoise shell combs and all the delicate and perfumed objects de luxe which shone on the dressing table of the actress. Suddenly the door opened, and Sophie Cherubin appeared with a rose in her hair. The beautiful brune was as fresh a bouquet and sparkling with youth, beauty and the pretense of effrontery.

"Ah, Fabrec," cried she joyously, "you have come just in time. We are going to give a little farce at a benefit at the Gaite. They will call for us soon, but in the meantime we will talk while Constance prepares my things. Sit down and be good."

The dresser had already passed behind the screen. They joked, and, according to her wont, Sophie began to tease the handsome deputy about the number of his successes in the theatrical world. Was it still true his devotion to the singer at the Nouveaute's? But Fabrec was discreet. The veritable lady's man is always so, because he loves women for themselves and not from silly vanity. To Sophie's questions he responded only by pleasantries, admitting nothing.

She became a little vexed. How suspicious he was! Truly? She had never been able to make him recount one of his successes behind the scenes—not one! "Eh bien, ma chere," responded Fabrec, smiling, "since you are so tenacious on this point I am going to tell you about my first passion."

"Yes, only I warn you it did not happen in the Rue de Richelieu and the heroine was not a societaire. I was 19 years old, I had just begun my law studies, but I was naif and timid. One evening I went to the little theater of the Gobelins, where I was overcome with love for the young premiere, Blanche Lilas, the moment she appeared on the stage. Was she young? Was she pretty? I ask myself today when I know that the beauty of an actress may disappear with some cold cream and two towels, and that ingenues generally have a son who is a lieutenant of cavalry or a sous prefet. But then Mlle. Blanche Lilas appeared to me the most fascinating of women. I no longer lived but to dream of her and then to admire her upon the boards of the Gobelins, the Montparnasse or Grenelle—for the troop moved about. I sold all my old books to the stallkeeper in the Rue Cujas, and thanks to Blanche Lilas I know all the plays of that day. Ah, she was charming in Polder! She is the only woman for whom I have ever made verses. They were execrable, but sincere, and I have never understood how I had the audacity to send them to her. The vacation was spent with my family in the country. I passed it counting the days, and when I returned to Paris I ran to the Gobelins, then to Montparnasse, then to Grenelle. The name of my idol did not figure upon one of the posters. The anxiety, the frightful anxiety, that I felt gave me the courage to enter the theater and make inquiries, when I found that Mlle. Blanche Lilas had not been re-engaged, and that they did not know what had become of her. Eh bien, ma chere amie, believe me, if you will, that that day I felt the most miserable, the most bitter grief of love, and for long months I was not consoled."

"And is that all?" asked the comedienne.

"Without doubt."

"Fabrec, you are a hoaxer, and you mock me with your souvenirs of your student days"—

Suddenly the comedienne's maid interrupted them, saying:

"Madame, madame, the monsieurs and the ladies are getting into the carriages. They are waiting only for you." And the voice of the manager was heard up the stairway:

"Mlle. Cherubin! Quick! We are late!"

In a moment the waiting woman had enveloped Sophie in her furs, taken the packages from the hands of the dresser, and the two women had flown away with an "Au revoir, Fabrec," from the actress.

The deputy was about to start in his turn when old Constance approached him, and lifting her face full of misery murmured timidly:

"Monsieur?"

"Hein? What, my good woman?"

"I have a request to make of you. Voila, I am ill. I no longer have my health, and it is with difficulty I do my work. I would like to be admitted into a hospital for incurables."

"Very well, the next time I come yc can give me a note," responded Fabr absently.

But the dresser had not finished. "And then, monsieur, there is a thing which will perhaps interest you further. I have heard everything when you were talking with madam. I am Blanche Lilas."

Fabrec made an involuntary exclamation and recoiled a step. Blanche Lilas! Blanche Lilas so horrible an old beggar, with the face of a death mask, he cried nervously, almost fearfully:

"How old are you, then?"

The old woman smiled pitifully: "Not so old as I appear, it is true. I have had so much misfortune," she groaned. "I am now 62, and I was already 41 years old when you first saw me. One cannot judge of the age of an actress from the stalls, as you said a moment ago, but that did not prevent my receiving my dismissal that very year because they found me too old. Misery followed immediately. Three months after leaving the theater I was working in a kitchen. Not very long after that an old friend who plays the dolard here got me this place of dresser. But I am at the end of my strength. There is nothing but a hospital that will please me now. My request is to the public assistance. You can ask in my real name, Constance Poireau. And since in the days, monsieur, you have paid me attention"—

She stopped, as though ashamed, as though fearing to displease in insisting upon this souvenir to the man whose aid she solicited. Happily for her he was kind hearted.

"I will go. I will go tomorrow," said he in a voice that trembled a little. "Rest assured I will strike the officers of the hospitals and put fire under their stomachs. And if for the moment"—his fingers were at his pocket hole—"I can be useful"—

She made a dignified gesture of refusal.

"Thank you, monsieur, all that I desire is to enter the hospital. There with my little annuity from the Society of Artists I will be perfectly happy."

With a cordial movement before quitting her he extended his hand. When she had put her own wrinkled and dry hand in his, he could not repress a shudder to think that 20 years before he would have cried with joy if he had been able to depose upon that same hand his timid kiss of adolescence.—From the French of Francois Coppee.

Reached the Point at Last.

It takes some persons a long time to come to the point of a story. They are lacking in that quality which newspaper men term "news sense," or, in other words, they do not appreciate the value of giving prominence to the important factor of their information.

It was such a one as this, a Pennsylvania Dutchman, by the way, who participated in a brief dialogue with a newspaper correspondent one day last summer. The man had been sent on a long journey to obtain some information and eventually brought up at a house which proved to be vacant.

Proceeding to the house of the nearest neighbor, the Dutchman, he asked: "Can you tell me where I can find Jane Smith? She's not at home?"

"Nein, Chane's nod ad home."

"Well, where is she?"

"She's gone the cemetery down."

"Can you tell me where the cemetery is? But never mind. Perhaps you know when she'll come back?"

"Oh, she won't come back already any more."

"Why?"

"'Cause she's gone to stay. She's det!"—New York Herald.

Fooling the Busy Bee.

Mock bees and spiders! A writer shows that some flowers form a striking exception to the rule of cross fertilization. The bee and fly orchids, for example, which would be much more commonly seen on our English chalk downs but for the ravages of greedy collectors, fertilize themselves and do not want to be bothered by buzzing bees and flies. So a cunning device has been resorted to. No bee will enter a flower in which another bee is already at work. Therefore to protect the entrance the lip is enlarged into a process exactly resembling the hind quarters of a bee (in the fly orchid it resembles a large fly). To the spider orchids, another British species, it seems to have occurred how a still more trying shock might be administered to the nerves of troublesome insects, so it displays in its orifice the likeness of a large spider. — London News.

ON THE SCRAPBOOK PLAN.

Moody's method of sermon making is original, says McClure's Magazine. In reality his sermons are never made—they are always still in the making. Suppose the subject is "Paul." He takes a monstrous envelope, capable of holding some hundreds of slips of paper, labels it "Paul," and slowly stocks it with original notes, cuttings from papers, extracts from books, illustrations, scraps of all kinds, nearly or remotely referring to the subject. After accumulating these, it may be for years, he wades through the mass, selects a number of the most striking points, arranges them and finally makes a few jottings in a large hand, and these he carries with him to the platform. The process of looking through the whole envelope is repeated each time the sermon is preached.

Partly on this account and partly because in delivery he forgets some points or disproportionately amplifies others, no two sermons are ever exactly the same. By this method also—a matter of much more importance—the delivery is always fresh to himself. Thus, to make this clearer, suppose that after a thorough sifting 100 eligible points remain in the envelope. Every time the sermon is preached these hundred are overhauled. But no single sermon, by a mere limitation of time, can contain, say, more than 70.

Hence, though the general scheme is the same, there is always novelty in the arrangement, for the particular 70 vary with each time of delivery. No greater mistake could be made than to imagine that Mr. Moody does not study for his sermons. On the contrary, he is always studying. When in the evangelistic field, the batch of envelopes, bursting with fatness, appears the moment breakfast is over, and the stranger who enters at almost any time of day, except at the hours of platform work, will find him with his litter of notes, either stuffing himself or his portfolios with new points he has picked up through the day. His search for these "points," and especially for light upon texts, Bible ideas or characters is ceaseless.

THE DECLINE OF WAR.

Pursuit of Property and Wealth the Main Cause Thereof.

The warlike temperament of man has been one of his most prominent characteristics from the earliest times. To live to fight has been the chief aim of most primitive peoples and has been a leading occupation of all civilized ones. Armies have grown in size, weapons have multiplied in number and destructiveness, battles have grown more and more deadly in action, while also becoming more merciful in their accompaniments, but still it is everywhere apparent that, in spite of these aids to carnage, the military spirit is on the decline.

May we not look for the cause of this in the enormously increased cost of warfare and its interference with the pursuit of prosperity and wealth? When the internal losses to a people become greater than those they can gain through conquest and annexation, they will be very loath to enter into a great conflict.

I am very far from saying that many other causes, such as ethics and a growing spirit of mercy, may not have contributed to this pacification of the nations, but is it not true that the cost of war is the chief preventive of war? If so, does it not illustrate the rule that the reactions set up by the vast technical improvement of methods of destruction have reacted on the primitive cause of the destruction—viz, the human will—and have lessened the cause by modifying the heart and brain of man?—Popular Science Monthly.

Thackeray on John Paul Jones.

"Traitor, if you will, was M. John Paul Jones, afterward knight of his most Christian majesty's Order of Merit, but a braver traitor never wore a sword."

Such were almost the last words traced by the hand of Thackeray, and they show the astonishing misconception of Paul Jones which prevailed in the mind of one of the justest men that ever lived. Washington was a hero even to his enemies, yet Washington had actually held a commission in the British army, while Paul Jones could say to the American congress at the close of the war: "I have never borne arms under any but the American flag, nor have I ever borne or acted under any commission but that of the congress of America." This singular distinction against Paul Jones extended to the whole of the feeble naval force of the colonies. Soldiers were treated from the beginning as prisoners of war, while until Paul Jones forced an exchange of prisoners upon equal terms American sailors were formally declared to be "traitors, pirates and felons."—"Paul Jones," by Molly Elliot Seawell, in Century.

Diamond Cutting.

Not only is diamond cutting not a specially high paid occupation, but it is one involving a most humiliating system of espionage to the worker. Each man is held strictly to account for the stones he receives on going to work in the morning, and the count has to be carefully taken when the unfinished work is turned in at night to be locked up in a safe against the return of the workmen the next day. The possibilities of theft are great, though a dishonest workman knows that an attempt to dispose of an unfinished stone would bring suspicion upon him wherever the attempt was made.—New York Mercury.

A Close Resemblance.

"There are some points about your writings that much resemble Shakespeare," said the editor.

"Do you think so?" cried the delighted author, who had brought his contribution in with his own hand.

"Yes," the editor continued, "you employ almost the same punctuation marks."—Rockland Tribune.

Frightful Marine Disaster.

News of the sinking of steamship Colima off Manzanillo on May 27th with a loss of 187 lives is confirmed as we go to press. Only twenty-six out of 213 passengers and crew escaped to tell the tale of the awful calamity, full accounts of which have not yet been received. Many of the victims were well-known to residents in this valley.

A FAMOUS VIOLINIST.

Mr. Bernhard Mollenhauer, the eminent violinist, who is the subject of the following sketch taken from "Music," for October, 1892, will appear at the concert of the Sonoma Valley Band on June 28, 1895. Sonoma people may congratulate themselves on having an opportunity to hear such a celebrity right here at home:

"Mr. Bernhard Mollenhauer has the honor to belong to a very old and distinguished musical family. In 1847 and later there were two musicians, brothers, playing the violin who gained the friendship of Mendelssohn and Schumann at Leipsic. Medelssohn wrote of them: 'There are two brothers lately come to Leipsic who play violin duos in a marvelous manner. The younger, Edward, has the romantic beauty of an Italian Improvisatore; the elder, of a less rugged type, already composes admirably. I have had them in my house frequently, and if the ear were deaf to their playing, the eye would be more than satisfied by the picture they make standing side by side in their dark beauty. And all this from Thuringia.' From Leipsic the brothers journeyed to Hamburg, where Bernhard was born.

"Bernhard Mollenhauer has fully maintained the traditions of the family. He was born in the old free city of Hamburg, in 1850. While he was yet an infant his parents removed to London, where his father was engaged in the orchestra of the Jullien, and with him they came to America in 1851. When the boy was five years old, the traditional family instrument was placed in his hands, his father having procured a little violin from London. Under his father's painstaking instruction the boy made such progress that by the time he was eight years of age his father considered him well enough advanced to appear in public as a 'wonder-child.' From that time to the present, Bernhard Mollenhauer has been before the public.

"Every season found a new engagement for this talented boy. When he was about fourteen he travelled as concert violinist with pianist Willie Pape. In 1865, when he was still only fifteen, he accompanied the lamented Gottschalk in his last American tour. This seems to have been one of the most interesting experiences of his life. Gottschalk was a most fascinating companion, full of spirit quick insight and a very ready wit, and generous to a degree. He was very fond of the young violinist, and in his letters gives expression to many sentiments of good-will and affection, highly interesting now that the hand that penned them is among the immortals.

"The Mollenhauer brothers were thorough musicians, as might be expected of pupils of Spohr, and friends of Medelssohn and Schumann. So the young Bernhard was put to the most severe theoretical studies, score reading and everything which appertains to the knowledge of a good musician and a sound conductor. In 1867 he travelled with the celebrated prima donna, Mme. Anna Bishop, but his greatest triumphs were attained as solo violinist with Gilmore's orchestra in the season of 1879-80. During this tour he made a great effect with the violin concerto of Max Bruch, which was then new.

"Of powerful and athletic build, full of vigor and elasticity, dark, bright eyes, ruddy complexion, and commanding forehead, and handsome, expressive face, he would claim the attention of a Reynolds, a Munkacsy, or a Healy. His imagination is almost constantly aflame. His mind and feelings act as by electricity, being easily kindled and fanned into a flame by the highly wrought motive temperament."

The duty of the people of the smaller towns and the surrounding country, is to take the local paper. So says the Sacramento Bee, and we side with it also in the assertion that it is because the country editor does more for the town than the town does for him that he is not permitted to sit down under his own palm tree and clip coupons, instead of having to patch up last year's clothes for another season.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The chief function of the kidneys is to separate from the blood, in its passage through them, of certain impurities and watery particles which make their final exit through the bladder. The retention of these, in consequence of inactivity of the kidneys, is productive of Bright's disease, dropsy, Diabetes, albuminuria and other maladies with a fatal tendency. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a highly sanctioned diuretic and blood depurent, impels the kidneys when inactive to renew their sifting function, and strain from the vital current impurities which infest it and threaten their own existence as organs of the body. Catarrh of the bladder, gravel and retention of the urine are also maladies arrested or averted by this benign promoter and restorative of organic action. Malaria, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness and dyspepsia also yield to the Bitters, which is also speedily beneficial to the weak and nervous.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured—No Crutches Now.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has done wonders for me, when doctors and many other remedies had failed to relieve me from the pains of rheumatism. I suffered over 40 years, the last 8 of which, I could not move without crutches or go to bed without assistance, being

I gladly praise Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has wrought a great change in a year. I have taken over two dozen. Eight months ago I laid aside my crutches and

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

BERNHARD MOLLENHAUER.

What a Few of the Eminent Critics Say of the Distinguished Violinist Who is to Appear at the Sonoma Valley Band Concert on June 28th.

Mollenhauer's violin solo with Gilmore's Band was the artistic success of the evening.—N. Y. Herald.

The poetic and dashing Mollenhauer was thrice demanded at Gilmore's Concert.—N. Y. Sun.

Mr. Mollenhauer stands in the front rank of the violinists in this county. He has had the most thorough drill that the best schools in Europe can afford and by natural taste and instincts he is a musician, and his playing is characterized by great expression and feeling.—N. Y. Times.

Mollenhauer, a prominent soloist, added to the programme a graceful composition of his own. "La Sylphide," and showed great power of execution and exquisite delicacy of taste.—N. Y. World.

The violin solos of Mollenhauer abounded in passages for the display of the highest powers and delicious execution, fairly enchanting his hearers, and winning enthusiastic plaudits.—Boston Herald.

A Birthday Surprise.

On Wednesday evening last Henry Weyl, one of Sonoma's most popular citizens, was tendered a surprise party by the Sonoma Valley Band, the occasion being the 61st anniversary of his birth. Two hundred of the leading residents of town and valley assembled at an early hour in the evening in the spacious hall which bears the gentleman's name, where the band discoursed sweet music for the votaries of Terpsichore until 1 o'clock.

During the course of the evening Hon. Robt. Howe, in a neat and appropriate speech, presented to Mr. Weyl on behalf of the band boys a valuable gold-headed cane on which was engraved the following inscription :

PRESENTED TO
MR. HENRY WEYL
BY THE
SONOMA VALLEY BAND.
MAY 29, 1895.

The recipient was taken completely by surprise, but eventually regained his composure and in a feeling manner thanked the donors for their handsome gift. After this little episode dancing and feasting were the order of the evening, an excellent repast having been prepared by the band boys and their friends which was served in the dining-room adjoining the hall.

During the evening Mr. Weyl received many congratulations from his friends who had come together to do him honor. The party was pronounced by all present as being the most enjoyable of the season.

The Freeborn Estate.

An order for the distribution of the estate of the deceased millionaire, James Freeborn, was filed in the Superior Court of San Francisco last Mouday.

The deceased, besides leaving his surviving wife nearly one million dollars, provided liberally for a number of relatives in this valley. Mrs. Mary Goodwin received $15,000 ; Albert F. Wade, $5,000; W. P. Wade, $10,000 and Miss Eleanor Freeborn, who died a few months ago, received $20,000.

The real estate includes property at Beale and Market streets, Jackson and Gough streets, Market and Sansome streets, Filbert and Sansome streets, Stockton and Washington streets, Montgomery and Pine streets and Market and Church streets, San Francisco, 1,040 acres in Tulare county, nineteen acres in Sonoma county, and interests in lands in Colusa, Glenn and Kern counties.

The Rain.

The rain of last Sunday caused considerable uneasiness to those of our farmers who were engaged in hay-making. At times the showers were very heavy and the ground received a good soaking. As the rain was followed by a stiff breeze the moisture was dispelled and little or no damage was done to the hay or cherry crop.

An Escape Recaptured.

An inmate of the Home for Feeble Minded Children, a boy about 17 years of age, made his escape from that institution last Thursday morning. He was seen to pass through this place and Deputy Constable Griffith got on his track and captured him near Napa on the afternoon of the same day. He was returned to the institution by the officer.

REMOVED THE APPENDIX.

Charles Dal Pogetto Survives a Dangerous Surgical Operation —His Recovery Assured.

Some time since Chas. Dal Pogetto, the well-known barber of this place, swallowed an orange seed or some other foreign substance, which lodged in the veriform appendix, a little sack in the bowels whose use no surgeon has yet discovered.

After ailing for some little time he called in and was treated by local physicians, who discovered a seed in the appendix, and as all efforts to dislodge the dangerous obstruction failed it was decided to send him to St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, and have the surgeons of that institution remove the appendix with the knife, which is a very delicate and extremely dangerous operation. Two weeks ago the patient, who was too enfeebled to walk, was carried to the cars on a mattress and taken to San Francisco. Upon arrival at the hospital it was decided, after a consultation in which five or six physicians participated, to build the patient up and put him in a condition to undergo the operation.

On Sunday last, the patient having gained somewhat in strength, was operated upon, seven surgeons being present. The appendix was successfully removed and up to yesterday no bad results had followed the operation.

The patient is free from pain or fever and no signs of inflammation whatever have made their appearance, and the indications at present are that he will recover, although it may be a month or two before he will be able to leave the hospital.

Ten days ago Dr. T. J. Le Tourneoux, a prominent physican of San Francisco, was similarly operated upon, but died of blood poisoning twenty-four hours after the appendix had been removed. About the middle of last month the doctor and his wife visited San Rafael and while there he ate an orange and accidentally swallowed a seed which lodged in the appendix.

He felt no bad effects until several days had elapsed, when he called in Dr. Thorn, who advised an operation. This Dr. Le Tourneoux did not then think necessary, but later developments of the trouble caused him to consent to it. When the physicians had removed the appendix a bad condition of things was discovered and the surgeons informed Dr. Le Tourneoux he could not live. He died the next day.

THE FOURTH.

Sonoma Will Celebrate—A Parade, Martial Music, Bicycle Racing, Fireworks and Other Features to be Introduced.

Preparations are being made by the citizens of Sonoma in general and the members of the Turn Verein in particular to celebrate the coming Fourth in a becoming and patriotic manner.

There will be a parade led by the Sonoma Valley Band in which the Turners, Firemen, Wheelmen and other societies in uniform will participate.

The new bicycle race track will be put in prime condition as one of the features of the day will be bicycle racing, footracing and other athletic sports.

The City Pavilion and Plaza, where the literary exercises will be conducted, will be arranged to accommodate a large number of people. A sixteen-foot arbor of evergreens will be erected entirely around the outside of the pavilion, the interior of which will be tastefully decorated. Tents will also be provided and set up in the Plaza for the accommodation of families.

The day's festivities will close with a fine display of fireworks and a ball in the evening.

It is the intention of our citizens assisted by the Turn Verein to preserve the strictest order on that day and no drunken or disorderly persons will be permitted inside the town limits.

Donations to help defray the expenses of the celebration will be thankfully received by J. E. Poppe, chairman of the committee.

Glen Ellen Squibs.

M. Brucker has sold his entire cellar of wine to Dresel & Co. of Sonoma.

A new floor has been laid in the office and waiting room of the S. F. & N. P. R. R.

Mr. R. Fowler, an old resident of this valley, visited friends in Glen Ellen last Wednesday.

Chas. Weise of this place has went to San Francisco to be sworn in as a policeman of that city.

Mrs. H. Wright is building an addition to and otherwise improving her dwelling south of town.

The picnic of the Germania Club of San Francisco in the Park next Sunday promises to be a well attended and orderly affair.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, May 30th, 1895.

A MINISTER'S CURSE.

The Last Sad Rites Over the Remains of a Betrayed Girl.

The funeral services of the unfortunate Lizzie May Burke, who recently died in St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, after being disgraced and abandoned by her seducer, were held Saturday afternoon in Yolo, says the Woodland Mail.

Rev. D. W. Calfee occupied the pulpit and preached an impressive sermon. The choir, composed of the Misses Minnie and Della Prior, C. W. Brush and F. E. Ellis, furnished sacred music. The surroundings of the coffin were a perfect wilderness of flowers.

The reverend Calfee paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of the dead girl, referring to her blameless life, noble character and loving disposition. During his discourse there was hardly a dry eye in the house.

Her betrayer was scored in the strongest terms. In part, the minister said: "If a girl of her character and rearing, surrounded by all the influences of a good home, jealously guarded by fond and loving parents; if a girl under such circumstances was made the victim of his villany, where on the face of the earth lives there a girl who is safe while such a fiend is at large. May God place the brand of Cain on the black-hearted wretch who traduced this pure-minded girl. Her life blood is upon him, and all the rivers of earth do not contain enough water to wash the crimson stains from his hands and soul."

Interment was made at Mary's Cemetery, three miles north of Yolo.

The following-named acted as pallbearers: C. F. Mering, Scott Griffith, Albert Bemmerly, Fred Fairchild, Lindsey Morris, E. B. Mering; and the honorary pallbearers, schoolmates and loved friends of the dead girl were, Bertie Cramer, Stella Ward, Eva Wherry, Liona Williamson, Jennie Morris and Cornelia Woodward.

Local Brevities.

The insurance rate war has struck Sonoma and rates have tumbled between 50 and 60 per cent.

Tom and Neil Ryan of Bencia visited their brother Joe one day this week.

The City Trustees will meet in regular monthly session next Wednesday. The principal business to be transacted will be the passing of a peddler's license to protect our local retail dealers, all of whom have to pay a license to help keep up the municipality.

The attention of wine-growers is called to the advertisement of the California Wine Makers' Corporation, which appears in another column. The association have a number of wineries to let in Sonoma, Napa, Santa Clara, Yolo and other counties in Northern and Central California. Bids for leasing these wineries must be sent to John H. Wheeler, the manager, No. 3 California street, San Francisco, on or before July 1st.

J. S. Young, the enterprising blacksmith and horseshoer, has removed his shop from his old stand to Clewe's new building near the Union Hotel, where he will be pleased to see his old patrons and make the acquaintance of new ones. In addition to shoeing horses he is now fixed up to do general blacksmithing. Read Mr. Young's advertisment in another column and give him a call, but don't swap horses with him.

Bicycle Notes.

Jessie Burris, Adam Adler and Dan Burris took a spin over to Petaluma Thursday on their wheels.

The several bicycle assocations of Petaluma, Napa and Santa Rosa failed to visit Sonoma owing to wet weather.

Ernest and Frank Gilbert, Olympic Club wheelmen, visited Sonoma last Sunday for a spin around the valley, but the muddy condition of the roads caused by the showers of Saturday night compelled them to cast their bikes aside. They visited Glen Ellen on the iron horse of the Donohue railway.

The bicycle craze is with us. It has struck this town bad, and every body, including men, women and children, if we except one-legged people, are learning or intend to learn to ride a wheel.

An exciting race took place last Wednesday over the new bicycle track between Harvey Perkins and Robert Pasch. It was nip and tuck between the racing wheelmen until just before the finish when Perkins shot ahead of his opponent, winning the race by about six inches.

Baldness is either heriditary or caused by sickness, mental exhaustion, wearing tight-fitting hats, and by over-work and trouble. Hall's Renewer will prevent it.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says : "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50cts.

No pains or money will be spared by the Band to make the coming concert surpass all previous ones. The engagement of so high-priced a soloist as Mr. Mollenhauer is certainly good evidence of this fact.

People who never would be missed : The man who thinks he is handsome, and in consequence of that illusion becomes something of a fool as he nears middle age. The incessant talker, man or woman, who talks to you in all places and never says anything you want to hear. The man or woman who cherishes spites at people for real or fancied wrongs, and gets even by giving them digs behind their backs. The suspicious person who sees evil in the most innocent actions, because evil is within him or her.

Bread crumbs rank among the housecleaner's best friends. Crushed to a coarse powder they may be used to clean delicate lamp shades, screens, show cases, scarfs, and the bolting-cloth trifles dear to the heart of the decoratively inclined. Bread crumbs will also remove grease spots from wall papers, and are, indeed, invaluable in freshening wall papers that have become dingy.

Mr. Carrol Prunty, a rising young musician of this valley, will appear at the Band concert for the first time as a clarinet soloist. It is safe to predict that his solo will be one of the most interesting numbers on the programme.

The social hop held in the park at Glen Ellen Thursday evening notwithstanding the high wind which prevailed was in every way a success. About thirty couple tripped the light fantanstic.

SENSATIONS IN ILLNESS.

It Is Curious How a Man Feels When He Knows He Needs a Doctor.

"It is curious," said a man yesterday, "the various sensations a man experiences when he goes to see a doctor or a dentist. There is a long, preliminary siege of mental agony, alternately exaggerating and belittling your ailment, until finally in a moment of desperation you decide to go and see what is the matter anyway. Perhaps you have a cold, which has settled on the lungs and developed a troublesome cough that keeps you awake nights. The cough itself is not so bad as the terrible possibilities it suggests. Visions of swift demise from pneumonia or slow wasting away with consumption rise up before your eyes, and every wheeze and cough confirms these terrible premonitions. If you could, you would go then in a hurry, but in the morning you feel better.

"The cough is still there, but the terrors of the imagination have fled before the daylight, so you put it off another day. But finally you decide to go, and with firmness born of despair march up to the medical man's door to learn your fate. In case of toothache every one knows how a tooth will hop and jump and smart all day until you get to the dentist's and then calm down so quiet and painless that you can't tell which one was aching. It is the same way with a cough or other ailment. As you go up to the door you secretly hope that the doctor is not at home. You pull the doorbell gently and half wish you had not come. Then the funniest part of it all is how mad you will get when you find the doctor is not at home and feel as if you had been cheated out of one of your dearest hopes."—Washington Post.

LOSS OF THE PRESIDENT.

What a strange story is that communicated by the Duke of Newcastle to The Globe concerning the loss of the President! He says that a trustworthy informant in the United States assured him that a sailor, dying in an American port, had confessed to having formed one of the crew of a pirate vessel which captured the great steamship. "Every soul on board was made to walk the plank, and the ship was scuttled."

The story seems incredible, yet it may be true, and the possibility of it gives one quite a shock. It is 50 years ago and more since the President disappeared from human sight, without, I believe, leaving a trace. The loss of no other vessel—for it was the first of the great passenger ships to go—has caused so great an excitement. How those at home clung to hope, some of them for years—for the notion of the crew being wrecked on some out of the way island was eagerly adopted—and how many a heart was broken by the intolerable suspense! At last it was generally concluded that the ship had collided with an iceberg and foundered. And now comes this terrible story, which, it is fortunate, was not conceived of when it would have had the power to make those at home more miserable.

It is not to be forgotten, however, that more than one story has been recently written upon this subject—the capture and scuttling of a passenger steamer—and it seems more likely that they have suggested the idea being adapted to the loss of the President than that a solitary pirate should have revealed such a long kept secret of the seas.—London News.

Westminster, Cal., March 21, 1894.—Some time ago, on awkening one morning, I found that I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, as I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best liniment on the market and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. HARRIS. For sale by all dealers.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

Mystified by an Abbreviation.

Among the stories told about the experiences of police telegraph operators by the attaches of the electrical bureau is one which relates to an ex-special officer, who is now a regular operator at a substation up town. While acting as "sub" in a West Philadelphia district he received a call from the central, which he promptly wrote on his slate as he received it. At the close of the message he found that it read: "Send wagon to Phil. Ahosp. and learn condition of Hen. Coop." He was completely stalled. He could not imagine who Phil. Ahosp was, nor where he was to be found, nor what particular hencoop the central was interested in. He felt that there was a mistake somewhere, but was satisfied that it must be at the other end of the wire. As the hour was near relieving time, he decided to wait and consult his relief before sending the wagon on a wild goose chase or asking the central to repeat. On the arrival of his relief he was informed that the operator who had sent the message generally abbreviated his messages, and probably the one received would read: "Send wagon to Philadelphia hospital and learn condition of Henry Cooper." This proved to be the proper solution.—Philadelphia Record.

Poor Woodcock—Poor Soul!

Some years ago a woodcock, tired and weary with his long journey, fell exhausted down from midair right into the middle of London. Nearly all birds migrate at night, so it was dark, as, half stunned, he found himself lying in Albemarle street. A woodcock's first impulse is always to hide himself, to steal under something, to crouch down. In nature wild he would choose some bracken or some low shrub. Holly he particularly loves, and there he would nestle down and doze the hours away, but here, poor bird, in rural Piccadilly, he could find none of these, and so he finally nestled up to a lamppost, and, stunned and stupefied, he fell asleep and was so found by the early milkman on the next day.—Critic.

Peter the Great.

Peter the Great of Russia had the typical face of a Russian peasant. A short, thick nose, with large nostrils, heavy brows, full, sensual lips, wide mouth and high cheek bones were among his most prominent features. His head was almost round and showed by its width at the ears that combativeness of disposition that was one of the leading points in his character.

PRICKLY ASH, POKE ROOT AND POTASSIUM
Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison Rheumatism and Scrofula

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, giving the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14th, 1893.—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 35 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby testify to the wonderful properties of P. P. P. for eruptions of the skin. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. I tried every known remedy but, in vain, until P. P. P. was used, and am now entirely cured.

Skin Cancer Cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

SEQUIN, TEX., January 14, 1893.
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief. It purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
